Holland & Knight

As increased regulations continue to complicate financial transactions, industry participants require sophisticated legal counsel to navigate the changing environment and respond to opportunities and challenges. With more than 800 members throughout the firm – including over 50 structured finance professionals – Holland & Knight’s Financial Services Team has the depth and experience to provide counsel to a broad range of clients, including banks, financiers, lessors, lessees, manufacturers, borrowers, airlines, maritime operations, government organizations and more.

What Makes Us Different

Holland & Knight’s Structured Finance Team advises clients on a variety of debt, equity and hybrid financing techniques. Using an informed and innovative approach to meet our clients’ objectives in both domestic and international cross-border transactions, we weigh tax consequences and legal constraints to develop the most advantageous funding arrangement possible. Our team collaborates with attorneys in the firm’s banking and finance, construction, taxation, maritime, aviation, real estate, bankruptcy and related practice groups to provide comprehensive counsel for a full range of transactions, including:

-  securitization transactions for all classes of assets
-  equipment leasing, with a concentration in the transportation industry
-  transactions for aircraft, vessel and rail equipment worldwide
-  project financings for infrastructure development
-  cross-border financings and investments
-  negotiation and documentation of complex secured and unsecured commercial credit transactions

Our Accolades

With a history of extensive legal experience, solid industry connections and leadership in both legal and industry organizations, Holland & Knight and our attorneys are frequently recognized by leading industry groups and publications, including:
