CIVIL AND CRIMINAL SUITS AGAINST WILLIAM WISE AND JACQUILINE HOEGEL

The SEC obtained a judgment against William Wise in the underlying receivership action for $75,544,722.03. On February 21, 2012, a federal grand jury returned a 23-count indictment, charging William Wise and Jacqueline Hoegel with conspiracy, mail fraud, and wire fraud.

On April 17, 2012, Wise turned himself in and appeared in court in San Francisco. On September 13, 2012, Wise plead guilty in federal court to one count of conspiracy to commit mail and wire fraud, twelve counts of mail fraud, three counts of wire fraud, one count of money laundering, and one count of tax evasion. On February 4, 2015, Wise was sentenced to 262 months in prison. United States District Court Judge Edward M. Chen also sentenced Wise to a three year period of supervised release. The Court found that restitution is mandated in the case, and the restitution hearing is currently set for July 8, 2015.

After the arrest and initial appearance of Jacqueline Hoegel, she was released on bond. In 2014, the Receiver was informed that the charges against Jacqueline Hoegel were dismissed based on improper venue, meaning that the U.S. Attorney's office for the Northern District of California would not be prosecuting the case. Thereafter, in 2014, a federal grand jury in the Eastern District of California returned a four-count indictment against Hoegel, charging her with making and subscribing false tax returns. The trial against Hoegel is currently set for September 21, 2015 at 9:00 a.m. before Judge John A. Mendez.

The criminal charges against Wise and Hoegel are separate from the civil suit filed by the Receiver in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas. The Receiver is only involved in the government's investigation when requested by the U.S. Attorney's office and federal agents and cannot comment on the status of the criminal case against Wise or Hoegel. If you have questions regarding the criminal charges, please contact the U.S. Attorney's office in San Francisco.

ANCILLARY LITIGATION AGAINST THE NET WINNERS

At the commencement of the Receivership, the Receiver determined that a number of investors actually received more from the Millennium Entities than they invested as "Net Winners." The Receiver contacted more than 300 Net Winners, seeking return of the "interest" they received, which was actually just the principal belonging to other investors. Following these contacts, the Receiver filed a clawback proceeding against over 200 Net Winners, seeking more than $5,000,000 in net winnings.

The Receiver effectively completed settlement of the claims against 104 of the Net Winners. The Court granted default judgment against 58 of the Net Winners and summary judgment against 16 of the Net Winners, which the Receiver will pursue in execution. To date, the Receiver has collected $2,395,988.67 from a number of the Net

Winners. The Receiver is still in the process of collecting on the default and summary judgments.

ANCILLARY LITIGATION AGAINST BROKERS

On March 1, 2011, the Receiver also brought suit against David Jones, Robert Kelty, and Scott Christopher ("the Brokers"). Each of the Brokers received significant commissions from their respective sales of the Millennium Entities' fraudulent certificates of deposit to investors. Defendant Robert Kelty and the Receiver reached a settlement agreement, and Defendant Robert Kelty completed the settlement terms and was dismissed from the suit on November 29, 2012.

The Receiver filed his Motion for Summary Judgment against the remaining Brokers on March 18, 2013. On August 2, 2013, the Court granted the Receiver's Motion for Summary Judgment against both the Brokers. Specifically, the Court granted the Receiver's Motion for Summary Judgment against Defendant Scott Christopher as to actual fraudulent transfer and ordered that the Receiver is entitled to recover $358,803.39. The Court also granted the Receiver's Motion for Summary Judgment against Defendant David Jones as to actual fraudulent transfer and ordered that the Receiver is entitled to recover $800,000.00. The Receiver thereafter obtained final judgments against both Christopher and Jones. Broker David Jones filed bankruptcy, but the bankruptcy court determined that the $800,000 liability to the Receivership Estate was not dischargeable. Now the Receiver's counsel is moving forward to collect both judgments against the Brokers.

DISTRIBUTION PROCESS

In 2014 the Receiver performed a cost analysis of what it would cost to move forward in collecting the judgments against the Net Winning Investors and the Brokers. The Receiver has a total of 50 uncollected judgments totaling $1,786,951.15 against Defendants located in 25 different states. The Receiver's cost analysis revealed that the most efficient and the route most likely to lead to successful recoveries for the Net Losing Investors was to hire counsel on a contingent fee to handle the collections. This process has begun and is ongoing.

DISTRIBUTION PROCESS

The Receiver is still in the process of clawing back monies that were distributed from the Ponzi scheme to the Net Winners and Brokers. To date, the Receiver has recovered a total of $4,863,007.82. As was detailed in the Receiver's Reports, the forensic accounting revealed that investor funds were deposited into one primary account, and that the money was spent by William Wise and his associates to fund a lavish lifestyle and little more. No investment of funds was apparent from the Millennium bank records. Wise literally spent tens of millions of dollars for an island resort, airplanes and pilots, an extensive wine collection, boats, luxury automobiles and drivers, world travel, and large sums regularly paid to his wife and various escorts, among other things.

The Receiver must always weigh the likelihood for success and/or recovery with the costs to the Estate before undertaking expensive avenues and litigation in his attempts to recover assets. Unfortunately, the forensic accounting in this case strongly suggests that there are no additional assets to be obtained—because the money has simply been spent by the fraudsters involved in the scheme. Likewise, the cases against the banks with whom Millennium and Wise transacted business have not proven successful, further limiting the likelihood that the Receiver could recover funds in that way. The Government has not instituted actions to obtain criminal penalties against those banks associated with the Millennium scheme. Based on these facts, the Receiver simply does not have the same opportunities or tools available in the Madoff case to obtain the same type of recoveries.

On November 29, 2012 with his Receiver's Report, the Receiver submitted a Request for Interim Distribution.

Thereafter, on December 11, 2012, the Receiver disseminated a status report and update via e-mail to the Net Losing Investors. However, after the filing of the Receiver's Request for Interim Distribution, over 130 additional investors contacted the Receiver with new claims or to dispute the amount listed on the Net Losing Investor Distribution Schedule. On January 9, 2013, the Receiver again contacted the Net Losing Investors and provided that if an investor had not made a claim he or she should do so by January 16, 2013. Although the Court granted the Receiver's initial request on January 30, 2013, on January 30, 2013 the Receiver filed his Amended Request for Interim Distribution to account for the additional 103 Net Losing Investors, which brought the total number of Net Losing Investor Claims to 565.

On January 31, 2013, the Court approved the distribution of 2.24% of the total allowed claims to 565 Net Losing Investors. On February 4, 2013, the Receiver contacted the Net Losing Investors via e-mail to announce that the Court had approved the Receiver's Request for Interim Distribution.

In his Motion to Approve Supplemental Distribution, the Receiver requested authority to make a supplemental distribution equal to 2.24% to the remaining 39 additional and amended investors total investments, for a balance of $93,230.78. On September 12, 2013, the Court approved the Receiver's Motion to Approve Supplemental Distribution and ordered that the claims process be closed.

The Receiver's goal throughout his administration of the Receivership has been, and continues to be, to maximize the amount available to distribute to investors.

Once the Receiver is satisfied that he has collected all available assets, he will distribute the remainder of the funds to the net-losing investors. The Receiver cannot yet project when the next and final distribution will be made, but the Receiver expects it to be similar in size to the original distribution.
